HERE WE GO AGAIN . . .

The 1987-88 school year started off with a bang. As students prepared to build their minds, construction workers prepared to build onto our school. Even though outside of the school everything was very hectic, inside the school the daily life was still running smoothly. Because of the sometimes loud and disturbing noises, students had to concentrate extra hard.

The football team and band were hard at work in the fall. The excitement as both groups performed admirably made all Lapel citizens proud to be Bulldogs!

Again, the second annual Homecoming events were a "big hit". But this year we had a new addition, instead of the fall festival there was a masquerade dance. All the classes had a good showing but the class of "89" came out on top.

Anticipation was high for a great 1987-88 school year.

Jade Bourke just misses a rebound.

Caught In The Shuffle 87/88

At Lapel High School the students are involved in many extracurricular activities. These activities range from club meetings to sporting events. Although these activities are important, the students also have to keep up with their school work!

Many students are looking for a well-rounded future, that may be college or other post-secondary education. Lapel offers many classes to meet their needs. After graduation Lapel students are well equipped to face the "real world"!

Lapel High School remodeling has "officially" begun.

Is this the real "Mr. T"?

The cheerleaders have the privilege of cutting the watermelons at the tailgate party.

The students at Lapel High School have an abundance of activities to enjoy and participate in. Among those activities are a variety of clubs, extracurricular activities, and a wide variety of interesting elective classes to enjoy. It is easy to get involved when all these options are available, and students are encouraged to be active in a great number of them.

Students in the Elementary are exposed to a great deal more than they would be if they were not a part of the high school. Lapel is the only school in the state where both sections of the school are connected. Taking advantage of the unique situation, Elementary students are encouraged to get involved with high school activities.

Daphne Halsell and David Sturgeon chat between classes.

Mike Rich and Dan O'Conner are excited to get started on their new books.

Trying To Get It Together

The yearbook takes a lot of work and dedication to complete. Most of this work falls directly upon the editors. This year's editors, Jenny Risk and Kelly Sylvester, spent a week of their summer at editor's camp.

During the school year, they must work constantly to meet their deadlines. Quite often, Kelly and Jenny along with other staff members could be found at the school until all hours of the night. The staff hopes that all our hard work pays off and that you get plenty of enjoyment from your yearbook.

Angie Duncan and Katrina Collins can't decide which pictures to use.

Donna Pilkington makes good use of her typing skills.

4-H

Many Lapel students spent long summer hours sewing, cooking, taking care of animals, and perfecting many other 4-H projects. Their goal was the judging for the Annual Madison County 4-H Fair.

The year, judging started July 8th and continued throughout the fair. At the judging each participant's project was appraised, and a ribbon was awarded.

During the 4-H fair, July 20th through July 25th, all of the projects were on display at the fair grounds in Alexandria. The community as well as the friends and families of the participants enjoyed the exhibits.

Homecoming Games '87

1987 was the second annual hall decorating, relay games, and lip sync competition. The race for first place began Tuesday, September 22nd, when each high school class decorated a specific section of the hallways. The rivalry continued Friday afternoon during the relay games and Friday night during the lip sync.

Saturday afternoon during halftime at the football game, the outcome of the competition was announced. The judges of the hall decorations placed the juniors first, the seniors second, the freshmen third, and the sophomores fourth. Friday afternoon at the relay games, the seniors and the sophomores tied for first with 115 points each. The juniors were close behind, followed by the freshmen. Friday night at the lip sync, the sophomores took first place, the freshmen second, and the seniors took third and fourth. When the final scores were figured, the classes ranked as follows: seniors — first, sophomores — second, juniors — third, and freshmen — fourth.

Congratulations everyone!!

Homecoming '87

It turned out to be a beautiful day for this years homecoming game against Eastern Hancock. Although the Bulldogs had little luck, the day was a great success.

During half time Stephanie Duncan, escorted by Jason Upton, was crowned queen of this years homecoming. The senior class was also represented by Deanna Bauner and her escort Bart Arnold and by Donna Pilkington and her escort Mike Boles. The junior class was represented by Kelly Perry who was escorted by David Bright. Laura Halsel escorted by Corey Smith, represented the sophomore class and the freshmen class was represented by Dana Wrin and her escort Chad Everitt.

Trick or Treat 87'

The tradition of the Fall Festival was broken this year by the Student Council. A halloween dance was held instead. It went over really well, everyone was dressed like their favorite character. Cash prizes were given to the class that had the most dressed up, they were also given to the best dressed in specific categories. Danny Moore and Renee Green were crowned king and queen.

Julie Swinford's finger nails are getting quite long.

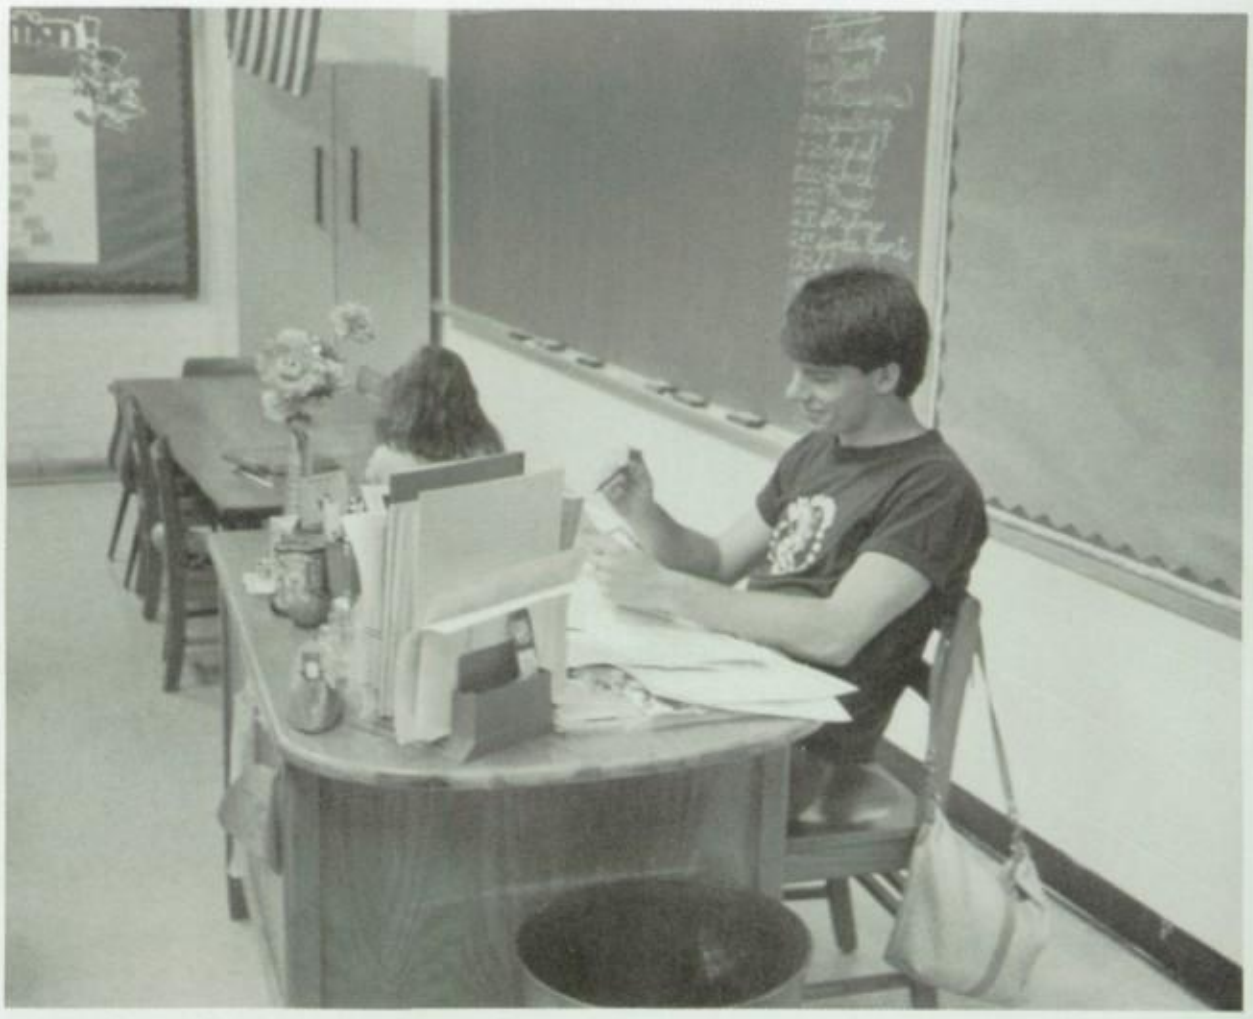
Days to Remember

Elementary school life is charged with the excitement of a whole world of new ideas unfolding for each student. Elementary teachers constantly reach for creative ways of teaching new skills. Every aspect of the growing child's academic and social needs are addressed by caring teachers.

From the arts to the sciences, students enjoy unique methods of learning in their classes. Field trips provide a break from classroom routines. Some of the classes had the opportunity to visit the zoo, the Indianapolis Children's Museum, and the Channel 6 T.V. Station.



Jason Upton is a part of the elementary student life by being a Cadet teacher.

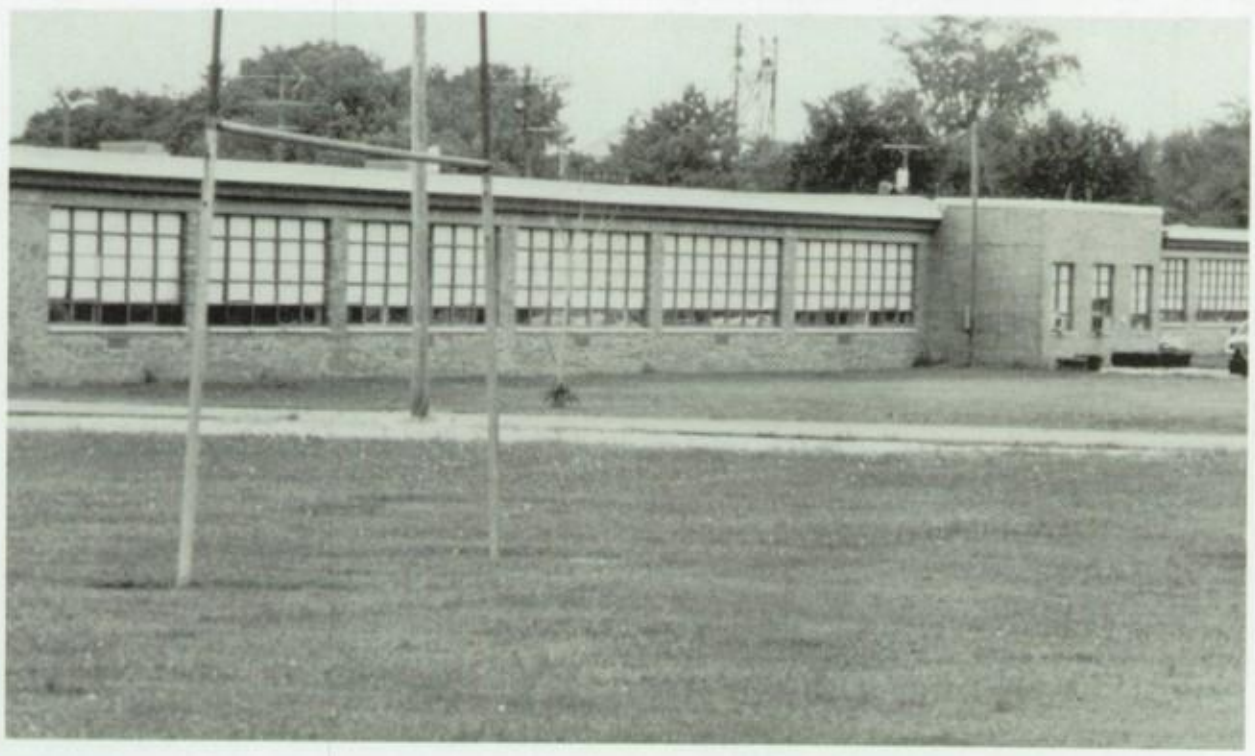
"Caught in the Shuffle"

Lapel School — home of the "movers and shakers!" Construction and the beginning of a new school year coincided in August. With the arrival of the students came the arrival of the bulldozers. Suddenly, old parking lots disappeared and new ones emerged. The complexion of the campus has changed as it is readied for its debut in a little over a year from now.

The students and teachers are "caught in he shuffle" of construction crews and building materials. The attitude toward all the upheaval has been upbeat and positive. For we all anxiously await the day we can move into our new surroundings.

Take a good look at what used to be.

This end of the school will never look the same again.



No more practice football field.

The ground breaking ceremony took place in August.

Far from completion.

The Komatsu Company really knows how to tear it up.

Hard to believe this use to be the parking lot.

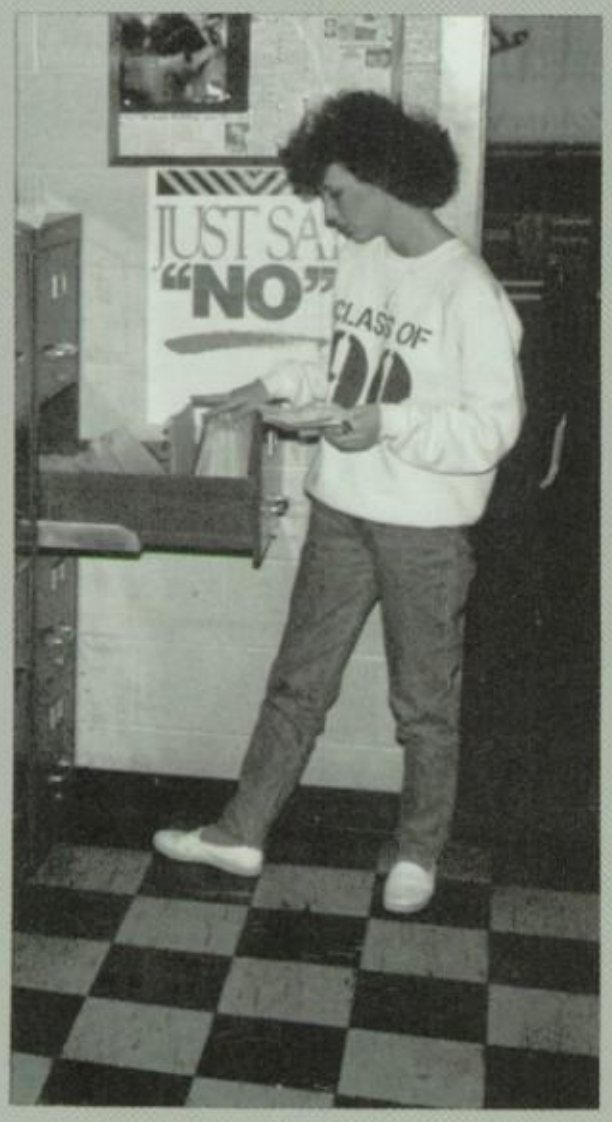
Caught in the shuffle...

The students are pushing themselves to new horizons. They no longer are just reading and writing. They are taking Academic English, higher levels of math, and more advanced science. These classes center on people who plan to go to college. Business, foreign languages, computers, and psychology also help students get a head-start for college. Home economics, mechanics, sociology, and physical education provide students with extra knowledge needed to help them succeed in college.



Seventh graders study literature.

Tonya Soden helps Mr. Buck.

Skye Boles entertains the crowd during a swing choir performance.

Using the library is an important skill to learn for seventh graders.

Elementary Academics

The elementary academic students have a bright future ahead of them. The first grade students are learning the building blocks of knowledge. The second and third grade students have workshops. The fourth graders are learning the history of America. They may not know where their generation may be in the future, but they do know where their ancestors have been. The fifth and six graders begin to prepare for Junior High with advanced classes in math and science.

The sixth grade finds a new way of lining up their desks.

Mrs. Gillespie shows the class a good paper with pride.

Mrs. Farell teaches her first grade class how to read.

The fourth graders get into their work.

Robert VanBuskirk finds the camera instead of the answer.

What in the world are these fifth graders doing?

Healthy Mind and Body

Students are encouraged to keep their bodies in top physical condition. To aid them, health and physical fitness are mandatory from the seventh grade to the tenth grade. During these years students are taught about illnesses, muscles, the care of their bodies, the exercises they can do to keep their bodies healthy. During the instruction, students participate in a variety of sports which they can enjoy and benefit from. Whether it is in the classroom or on the field, Lapel students get quality advice about maintaining their health.

Give me that!

On the count of 3, push!

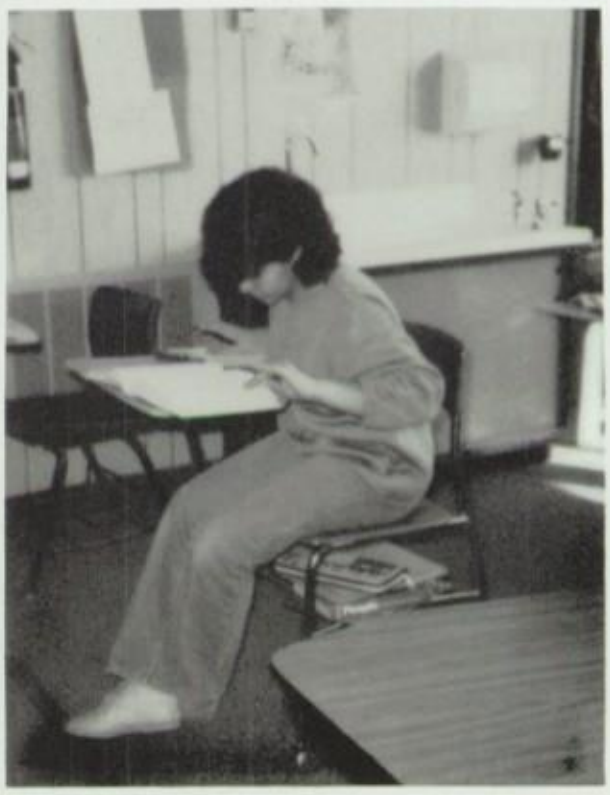
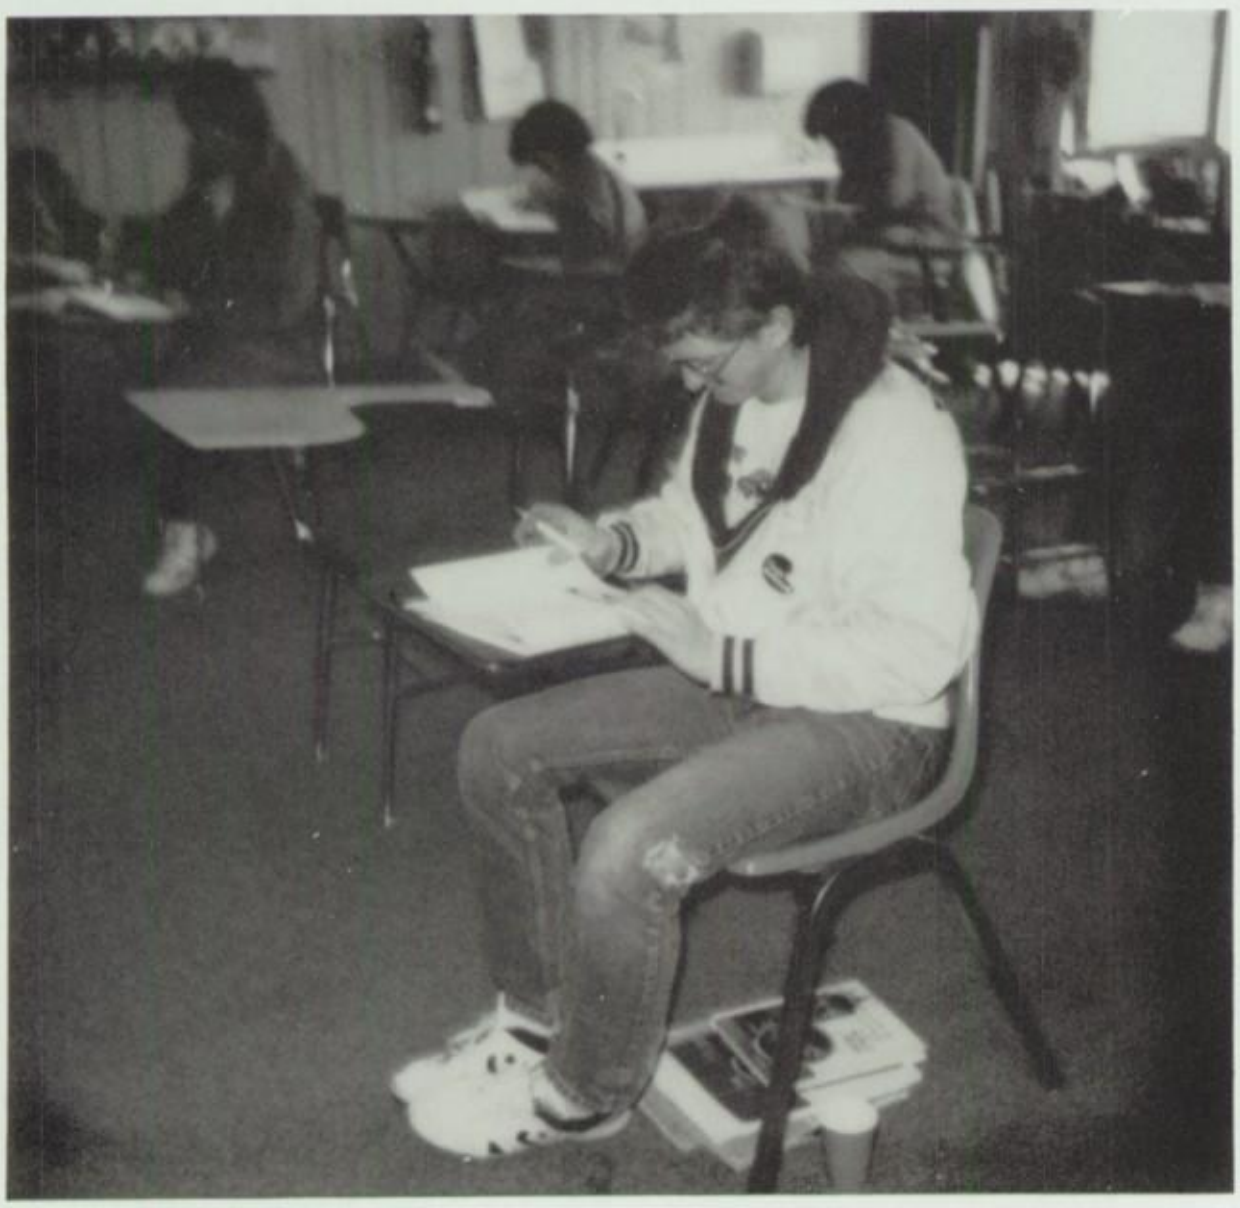
Special People!

This year's special education classes provided students with the extra help they needed to succeed.

The class is hard at work.





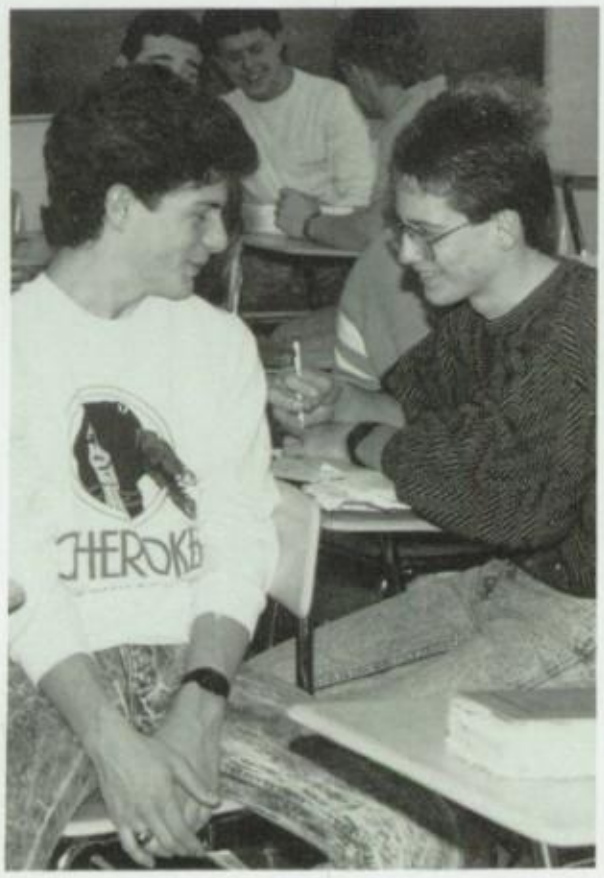
Can't find the answer?

Doug Ward works on a problem.

Calculating Our Future

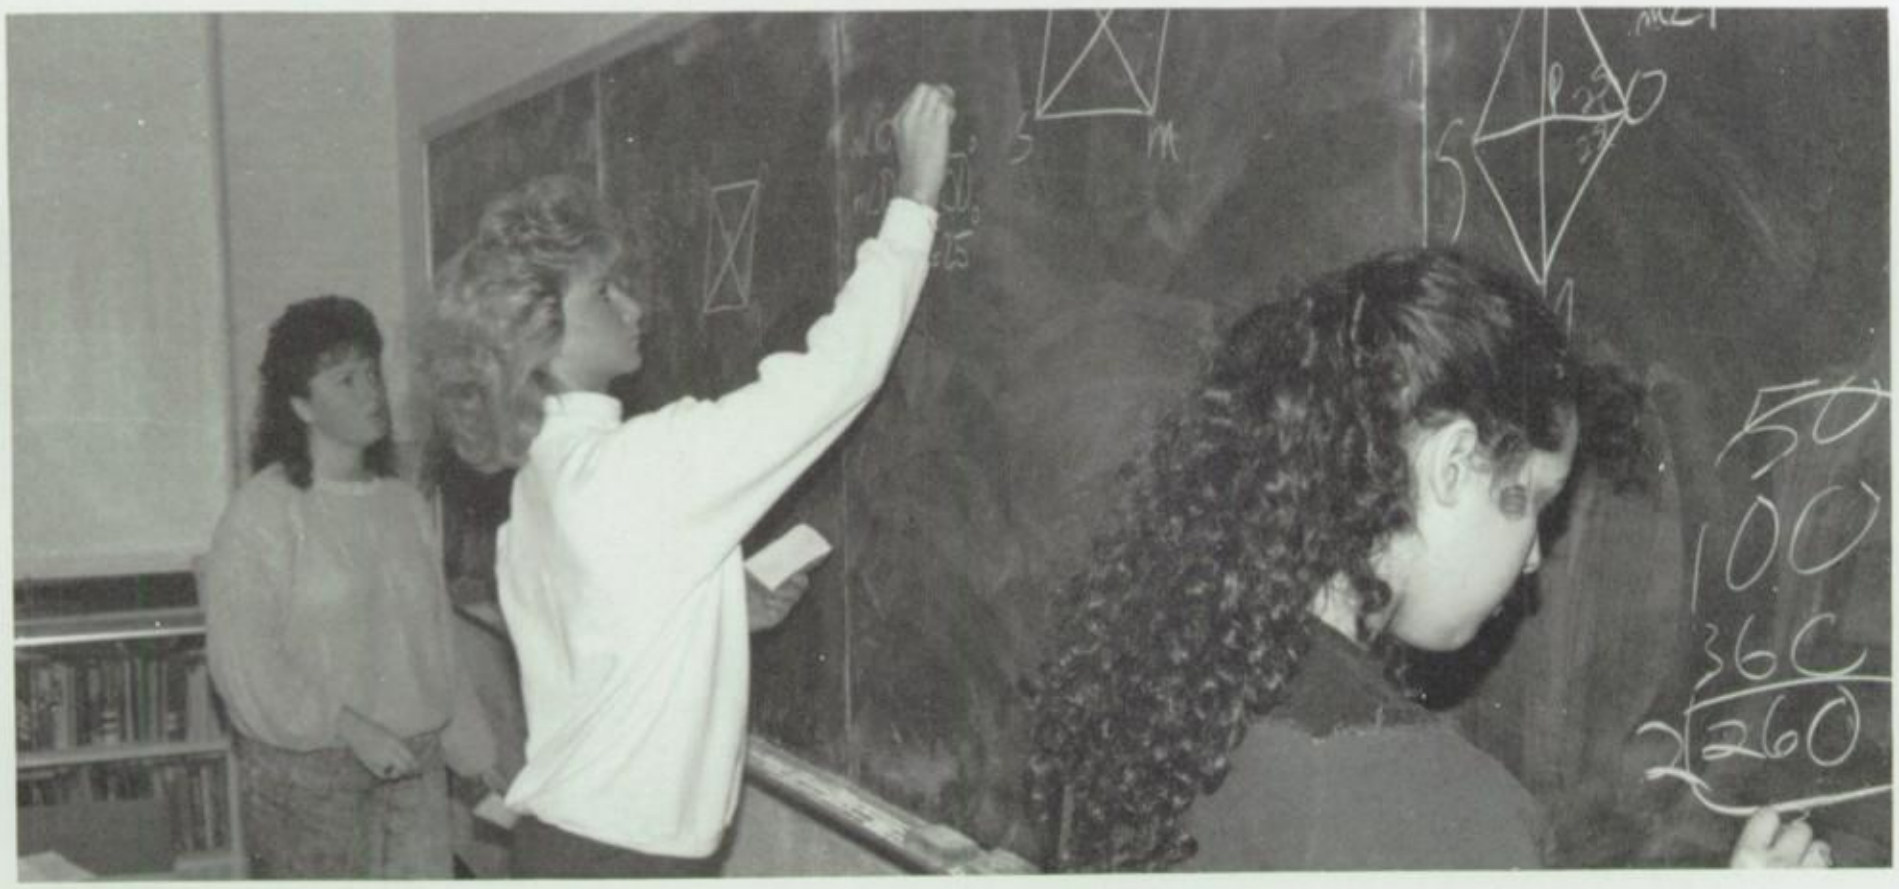
Students at Lapel High School are struggling through math classes such as Geometry, Algebra I and II, College Algebra, Trigonometry, and Calculus. In these classes, they study geometric figures, proofs, and basics for classes to be taken in the near future.

Mr. Fields grades papers while his 8th graders do their homework.



Brian Layman, let us in on the secret.

Mrs. Terhune shows off her newly inherited statue.



Teresa Reddick, Carrie Smedley, and Amanda Spacaj work diligently on the proofs they love so much.

Laurie Teeters dozes off, Richie Green spaces out, Dana Barmes writes a letter, and Destry Bourke smiles for the camera.

Are Julie Fields, Marcus Stephenson, and Jamie Gray taking a test or goofing off?

"Computers, the key to the Future"

As a required course computer literacy teaches freshmen a basic understanding of the uses of a computer. Computer Programming gives older students an opportunity to test their skills at creating basic programs.

Can Jamie Coverdale and Chad Short out-smart the computer.

Steve Pollard and Tim Laut work painstakingly on their computer assignment.

The computer is a life-saver for Kelly Sylvester.

Bob Adams watches as Michelle Mahoney sneaks a look at Beth Oyler's program.

Jason Cobb displays his afternoon's project.

Science

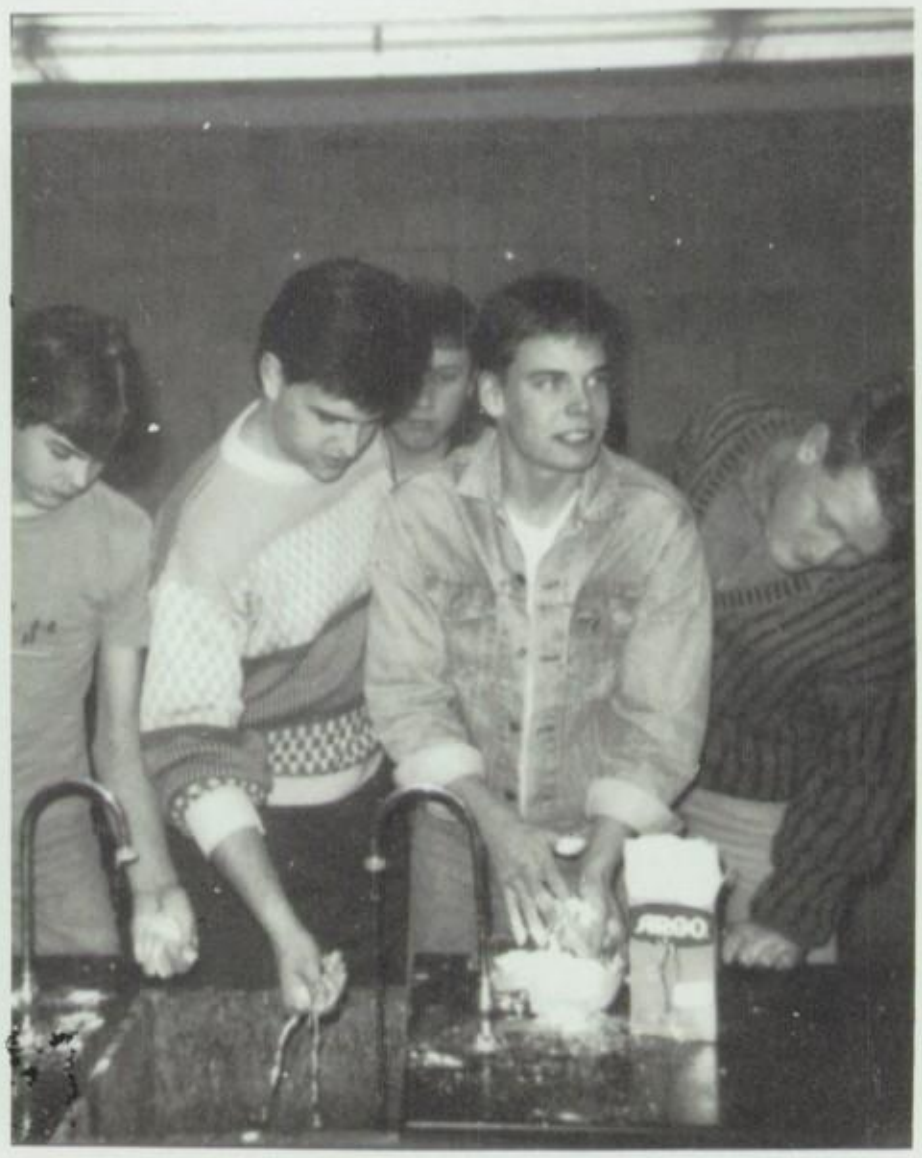
The Science Department welcomed a new member to the team this year. Miss Owens was welcomed as the new Biology and Chemistry teacher. This addition combined with the experience of Mr. Shuler makes a winning scientific combination.

Shane Kimmerly and Yana McClintick "goof off" in the chem. lab.

Chad Mountcastle doesn't look too happy about what's going on.

The chemistry students don't believe in all work and no play.

Trying to stay awake!



Try not to make a mess, Terry!

English — Person, Place, or Thing?

English is the most basic and most overlooked part of a quality education. To succeed in the world today we must have the proper communication skills to perform in any chosen career. Starting in the early grades, English is a mandatory class until graduation. With this in mind, all students should be ready for a quality education in both literature and grammar.

This English class knows the meaning of hard work.

Little do they know they have five more years in English.

Get to work, Andy.

Mrs. Lowder says "Foul is fair and fair is foul."

The Sophomores breeze through a test.

A New Era

The end of an era and the beginning of a new. Last year Lapel High School lost Miss Rockey to retirement, this year Mr. Boudrot took her place and was a "big hit" with all the students. His youth and enthusiasm excite his students and make learning fun. Mr. Boudrot teams up with Mr. Babbit to make a winning combination in teaching history. The yearbook staff would like to congratulate Mr. Boudrot on a very successful first year and looks forward to many more.

Mr. Boudrot keeps watch.

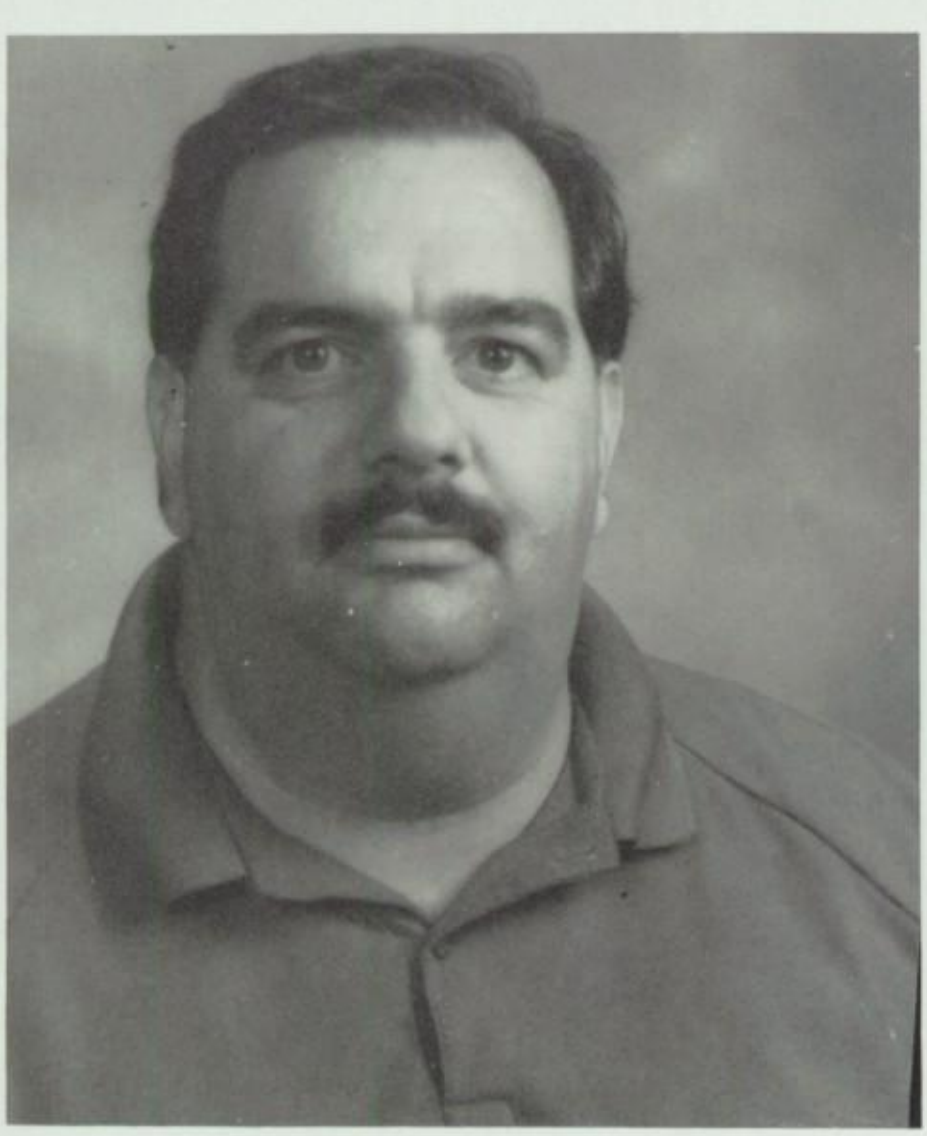
Mr. Babbitt must be up to something.

Are these students working on History?!?

ART

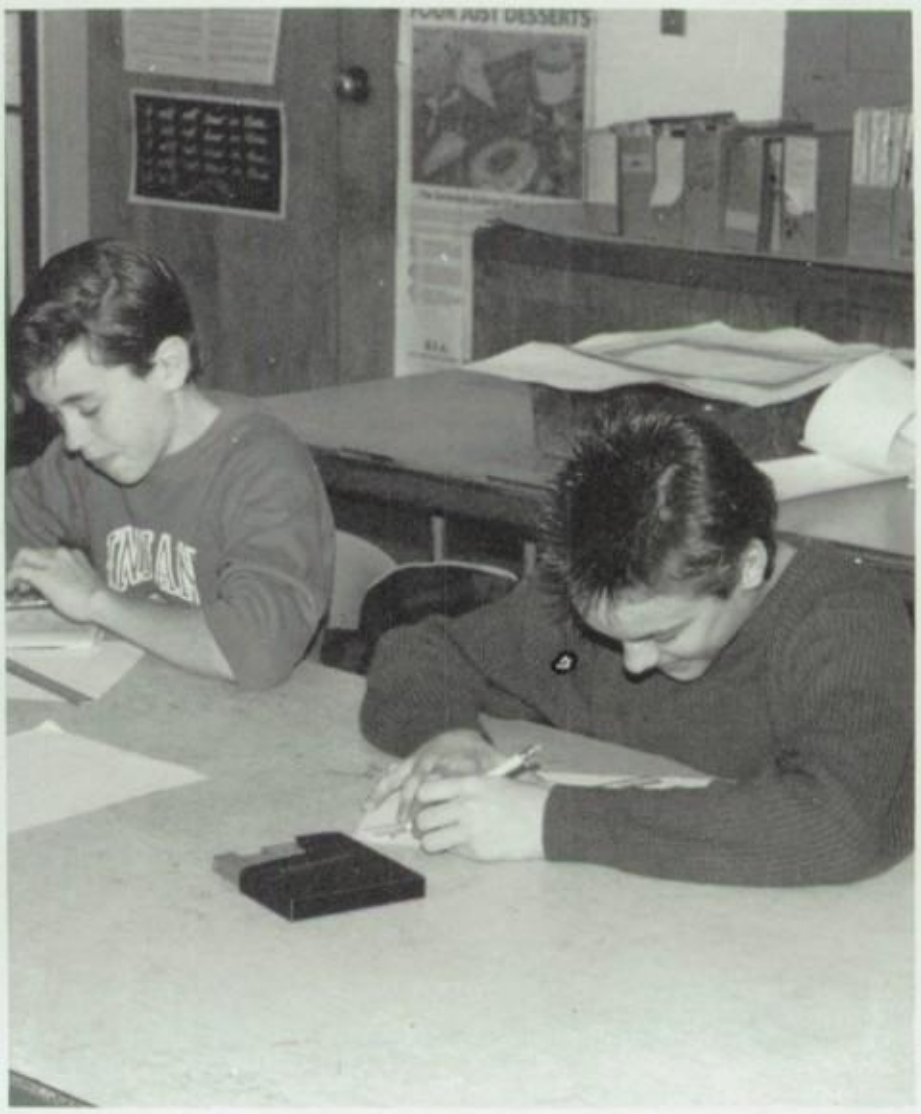
A display of Lapel student's artistic ability.

Art classes learned how to make point-perspective designs, painted color wheels, and paper mache sculptures. Many students displayed their talent through art samples placed on the bulletin board in the front hall. With the use of their creativity and with the help of their teacher, Brenda Mills, students are sure to succeed artistically.



ART???

Budding artists???



That's Business

Accounting, business law, general business, consumer economics, Typing I and II are all courses offered at Lapel High School to prepare students for a future in Business. Skills these students learn today will be valuable as they enter the business world. These classes also give a student a chance to look at a business career from an informed perspective.

Mrs. Howenstine can't figure it out either.

"How do you turn it on?"

Hard work will pay off.

Derek Stephenson concentrates on his typing.

What ya workin' on Marcus?

The typing class does a "timed writing."

What's Cookin'?

There are many responsibilities that will take place after high school. The Home Economics classes are making students realize this fact by preparing them for the future.

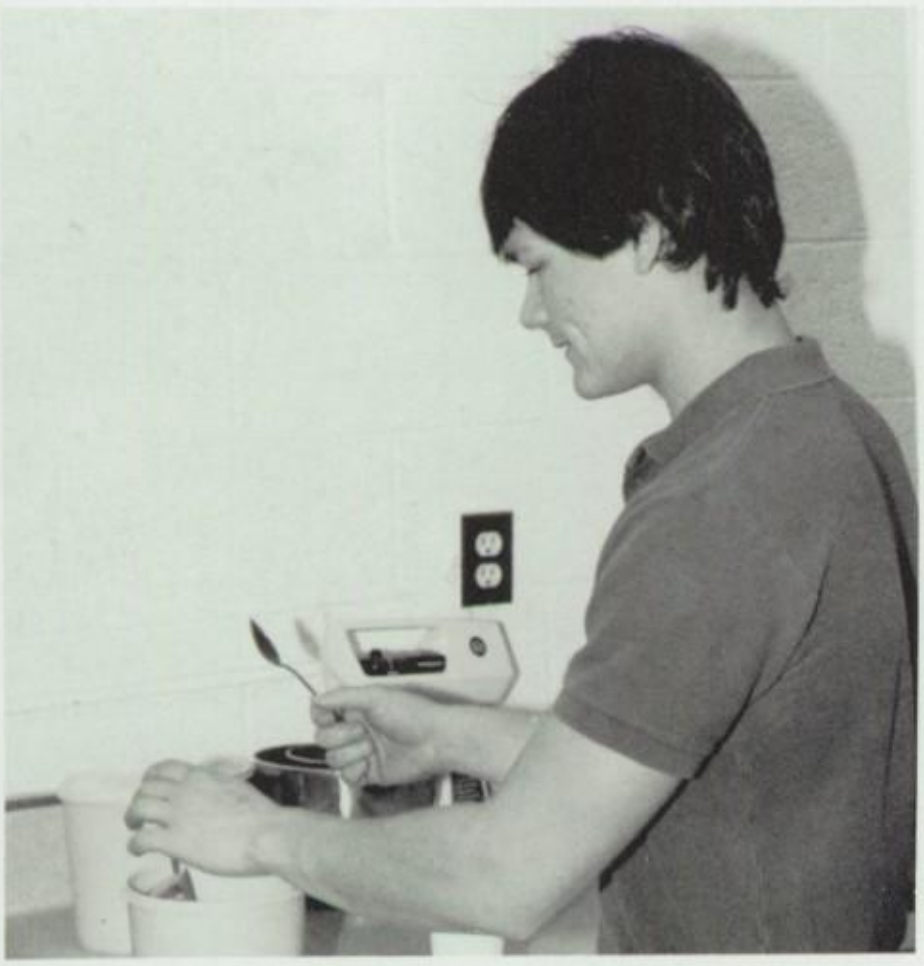
The Junior High students are learning the basics of cooking and sewing. The High School students are learning about interior design, relationships, managing a family, child development, family living, consumer buying and housing.

Jennifer Wall sports her new mittens.

Andy Bracken sings as Brian Mills and Mindy Roberts work vigorously.

Amber Wilcox sneaks a peek at Bob Edgreen's secret recipe.

Chris Meyer makes a protein shake.



Michelle Foust checks her chicken.

Keepin' Shop

Shop at Lapel High School allows the student to receive "hands on" experience in many mechanical activities.

Students taking agriculture receive a widespread education. They compete in contests as well as judgings.

Mr. French carefully checks Craig Roudebush's progress.

Randy Brooks finishes someone's homework.

Ben Shroyer, electrician extraordinaire.

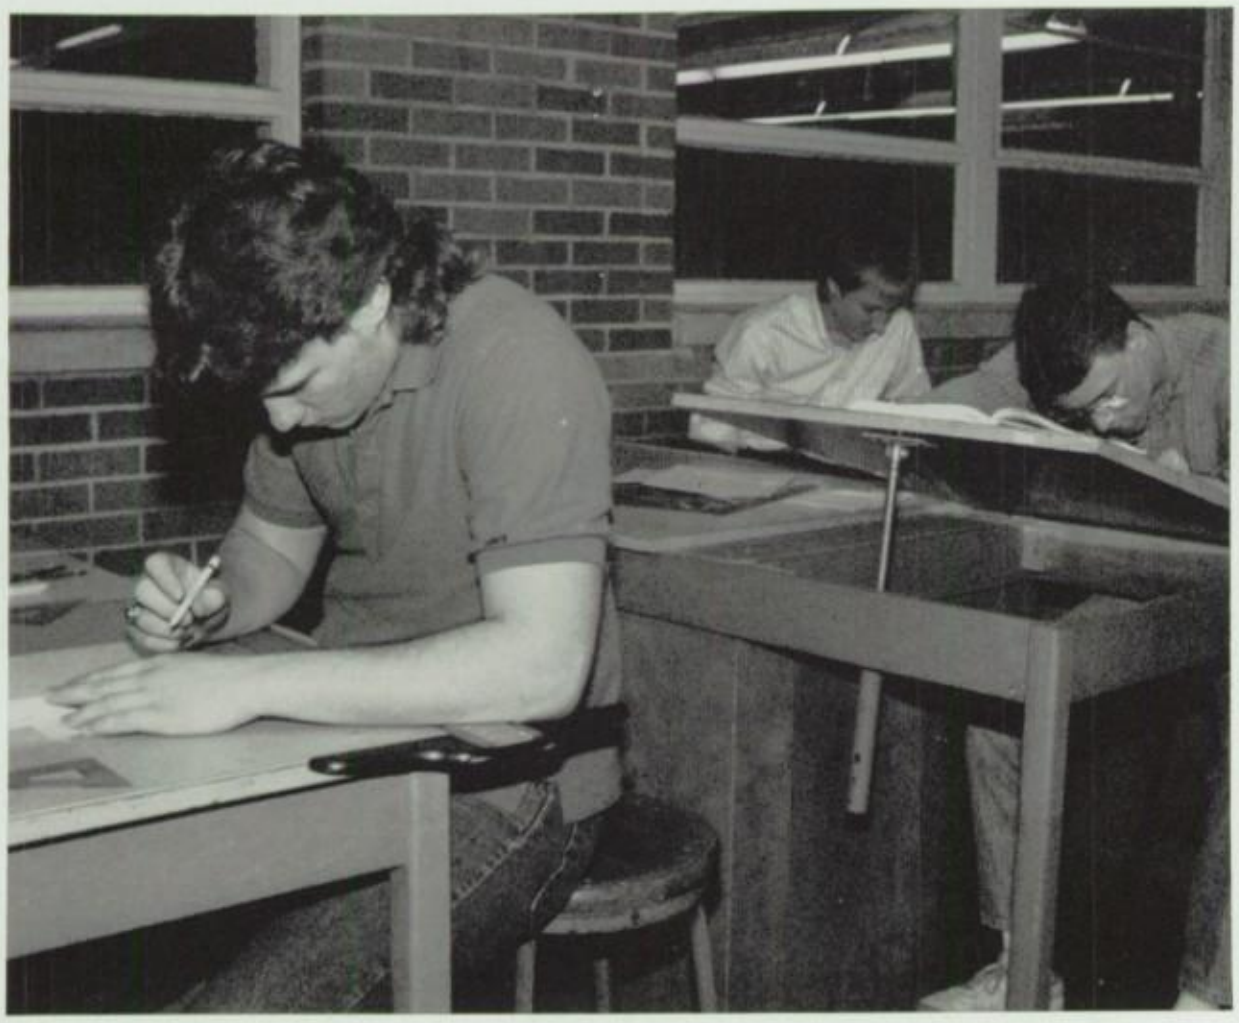
T-squares come in handy for Chris Wells.



Richie Vincell completes some unfinished business.

Billy Kepner works with the lathe.

Rockin' to the

For the Band members, Practice began in August at Band Camp. The Band did something different at camp this year.

The band was asked to perform at Anderson University's homecoming. The band performed at both pre-game and half-time.

The winter season was a busy one for band members. They performed in several programs as well as playing at every home basketball game.

The band's goal this year was to "please the crowd" and they always aim to do so.

The junior high band members are looking forward to being included in the high school band.

Whole Lot of Shaking Going On

This has been another exciting year for the Lapel Swing Choir. A drummer, and shining teal blue dresses with silver shoes and belts jazzed up the group this year. Kyle Rich is the drummer, and Zoe Terhune made the dresses again this year. The guys wore silver-gray tuxedos with teal blue bow ties and cumberbunds.

The group has fun dancing and singing for different clubs, organizations, and hospitals. This year the swing choir also performed at Union Station before Christmas.

J.R. High Choir

The Lapel Choirs were a strong, hard working group this year. They showed their singing ability in the programs and concerts they participated in. The Concert Choir participated in the Madison County Choral Festival and other concerts that were held at the school. The Junior High Choir sang to their hearts content, and provided great entertainment for their audiences. The Junior High Swing Choir sang in hopes of being a member of the High School Swing Choir in the near future. Miss Jeanine Terhune helped the Choirs have a fun-filled and successful year.

From the administration to the student body, all the people at LHS work together to make the school year successful.

The administration not only keeps the school running but is very supportive of student activities. The teachers go that "extra inch". The guidance counselors help seniors with college decisions and help underclassmen select the courses that best suit their future plans. Bus drivers make sure students who cannot drive arrive safely and on time. The cooks provide a well-balanced meal each day, while the custodians keep our school clean and tidy. The students and alumni top off the totem pole by bringing excitement and pride to LHS.

The administration is a group of professionals responsible for managing our school. The administration keeps our school in order. Our principal, Mr. Larry Galliher, keeps everything running smoothly. Mr. Buck, our vice principal, manages attendance and supplies disciplinary support for the teaching staff. Mr. Jerry Kemerly is in charge of the elementary grades. If it weren't for our hard-working secretaries, Judy Lane and Peggy Stephens, our school would come to a grinding halt.

People Who Put It Together

The People who just can't be overlooked are the cooks, custodians, and bus drivers.

The custodians do their best to keep the school looking in good condition. Their job consists of keeping the school clean and doing the handy work that needs to be done.

The cooks provide the students and faculty with nutritious meals and friendly greetings.

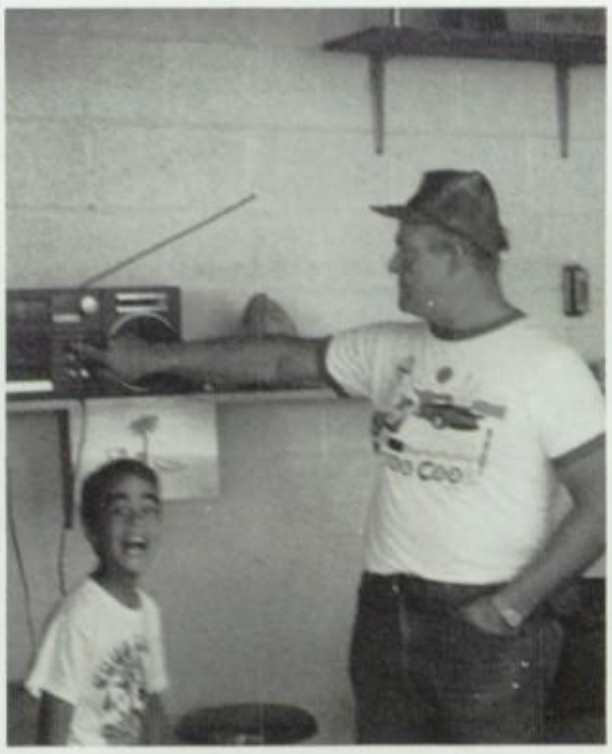
Another group that is highly thought of are the bus drivers for they get the students safely back and forth to school and to sporting events.

Cooks: Susan Cloud, Pricilla Smith, Cheryl Marcum, Vicki Hiatt, Wilma Shupe, Annabella Oleksy, Barbara Smith, Jolene Mills, Dorcas Mullet, Cindy Bauer

Custodians: Betty Griffin, Dave Shetterly

Custodians: Dallas Curtis, Shirley Whitmell

Bus Drivers: Linda Hormell, Rosalie Stottlemyer, MR: Roger McClintick, Diane Lawther, BR: Willis Benedict, Jim Hall, Vivian Kimmerling, Carol Davidson



It's a little loud Dallas.

For the seniors, these last months together will be etched into our minds as being the best, care-free times of our lives. The seniors have made many contributions to our school both athletically and academically and will be remembered by the community as being a class that was "involved". Whether it was a senior trip to the park or class meetings, seniors would be seen having a good time. The class of "88" can be proud of its accomplishments.

Although the seniors will no longer be classmates, the friendships they have established through the years at Lapel High School will continue to be a mainstay in their adult lives.

What was your memorable experience in high school?

During my sophomore year in basketball, Donna Pilkington shot a free throw during a game that went straight up in the air and didn't even come close to the basket. I remember Jason Upton almost falling over the scorers bench from laughing so hard at the shot.

Darcie Kirchenbauer

My most memorable high school experience was in Mrs. Hersberger's junior English class. Mrs. Hersberger and Alan Rose were arguing. Mrs. Hersberger became angry and kicked the trash can over. Trash flew everywhere and Alan had to clean it up.

So often I sit and think about the way things were —
The fun and friends, the joy we all had and the times of just being together . . .
Of course there were some days, times we wondered how we made it.
But our friendship helped us through.

Now we may be separated,
but the bond is still there.
Friendship holds us together.

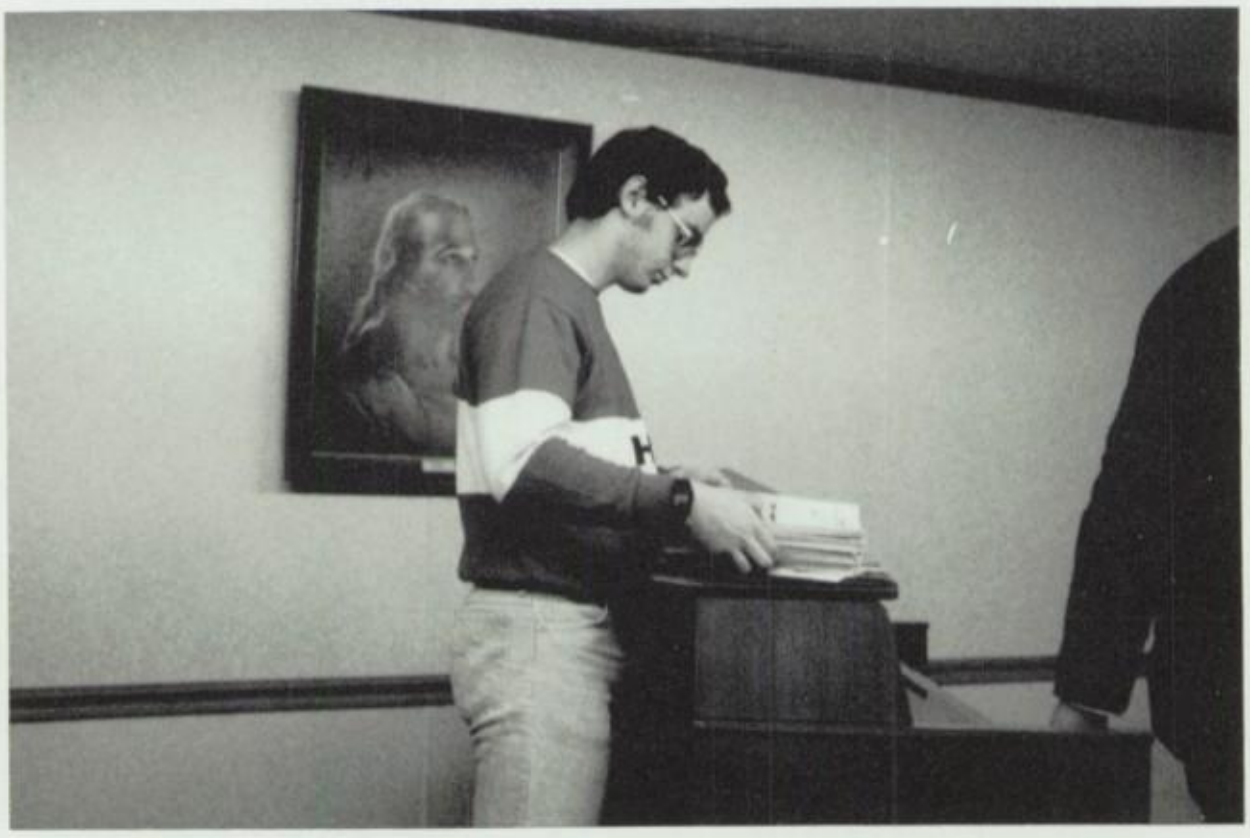
— Joyce Brink



Destry thumbs through the music.

What is the most outstanding quality of the senior class?

"The most outstanding quality of the Senior class is its sense of togetherness. There seems to be a genuine concern and interest in fellow classmates. They share not only the good times but are supportive of each other when the going gets tough."

Mrs. Birge, 1988 Class Sponsor

"There is a core of dedicated, hardworking seniors that provide very good leadership. The class as a whole are good students. They have been a good class to work with."

ONE MORE YEAR

Three down and one more to go! These juniors are very well qualified for next year's adventures. They are ready to conquer their senior year academically and athletically. This year they won the Homecoming hall decoration contest with the ghostly theme "Ghost Busters." The class really pulled together for Homecoming activities, they worked hard to receive third place.

The high point of the juniors' year is the prom. This year's theme was "Paradise Island." It was held at the Anderson Country Club on April 23. They can still smell the salt air and see the palms gently swaying in the breeze.

Striving for the Future

The sophomore class has been busy making money for their junior prom. Rumor has it that they have already exceeded their goal. The sophomore class enthusiastically entered into the homecoming games coming in 1st in the lip synch contest and 2nd in overall. The highlight of the homecoming games for this class was when they beat the seniors in the tug-of-war.

The sophomores show their class spirit!

Doing the Freshman Shuffle

The freshmen really got caught up in the excitement of entering high school, purchasing class jackets, and selecting class rings. They felt really grown up now that they had rings to exchange. Homecoming was an exciting event and many of the students helped with the hall decorations. The freshman class had a very new and exciting year.

When I Must Leave You

When I must leave you
for a little while,
Please do not grieve
and shed wild tears
And hug your sorrow
to you through the years,
But start out bravely
with a gallant smile;
And for my sake and in my name
Live on and do all things the same,
Feed not your loneliness
on empty days,
But fill each waking hour in useful ways
Reach out your hand
in comfort and in cheer
And I in turn will comfort you and hold you near;
And never, never be afraid to die,
For I am waiting for you in the sky!

Moving Up

The eighth grade class found their interest shifting to thoughts of high school and the need to start preparing academically for college. The counselors were very helpful in suggesting classes that would best suit their academic goals. This class has many students displaying great talent in music and sports. These students are really going to be an asset to the high school student body next year.

It's Just The Beginning

The seventh grade students discovered advancing to junior high status had advantages and disadvantages. The end of recesses and the confusion of locating new classes posed new hazards for seventh graders. However, a different teacher for each class proved stimulating. Approximately seventy-five strong, the seventh grade has brought a great deal of enthusiasm and energy to the junior high.

Tammy Ellingwood is puzzled about what page to be on.

On The Move

What's wrong Mr. Fields, can't you find what you're looking for?

Sixth graders enjoy a certain prestige as "The Senior Citizens" of the elementary school. The special qualities of self-discipline and added responsibility help provide the substances of growth necessary in this phase of learning.

The annual visit to Bradford Woods for three days is an excursion into environmental knowledge. Learning about how animals make homes in the wild, how to trail and track, and how to use the compass are all facets of the practical knowledge gained by the class.

Testing the waters of independence that will soon come in junior high, the sixth grade class looks forward to specialized classes.

The "Fact Finders"

Mrs. Anderson's class works very hard to finish their assignment.

The fifth grade has embarked on many fact-finding adventures in math. The mastery of math facts at this level is critical to success in subsequent math classes. The students use computers as an aid in drills and testing.

Learning about proper nutrition, and putting that knowledge to work was part of a health unit. The three classes kept a food diary of breakfasts for a week. The losing class had to serve the "winning" classes breakfast in the cafeteria. The students have learned that the practical application of learned knowledge provides an added impetus to retention of the subject!

Striving for Excellence

Along with new adventures in learning, fourth grade also provides the opportunity for students to reap the benefits of academic prowess. Each six weeks a "Top Student Award" is bestowed upon the outstanding students in math, reading, and English classes. An award for "Most Improved" student is also included.

The fourth graders were able to "wander Indiana" through Indiana history. Trees native to Indiana are the substance of a science project as the class compiled leaf collections for their science class.

The Second Grade

The second year of school brought new vocabulary and the thrill of learning to write in cursive. Learning new math facts tested memorization skills.

A Thanksgiving celebration brought together the second grade Indian squaws, braves, and pilgrims. The feast included various items that the children donated. This "hands-on" learning experience provided a memorable way of recounting an important event in our nation's history.

FINDING OUR WAY

Basic reading and math skills fill the days of our first graders. A full day of school activities provides the sound basis of learning — and fatigue! First graders are required to concentrate for longer periods of time at their tasks. Eye-hand coordination, fine-motor skills, and social awareness go hand-in-hand with academic skills.

It's not all "business," though. The first grade students also enjoyed a trip to the Indianapolis Zoo. They are realizing that there is much to be learned through experience as well as through books.

The Graduating Class of the Year 2000

The hopes of the future rest in the kindergarten class of today. What kind of world will welcome the graduating class of 2000? The foundations are being laid now to prepare these young people for the academic and physical demands of the future. The study of beginning sounds, recognition of shapes, and important safety rules are covered during this important year.

A visit to Stoney Creek Farm was the fall highlight for the class. Awareness of the world we live in and the creatures who share it are all part of the kindergarten curriculum.

Athletics are an important part of a student's education as well as being a great deal of fun. Students participate in a variety of athletic events which provide a source of entertainment for them as well as the hundreds of spectators who attend.

The size of our school sometimes makes competing against other schools difficult. But all in all, the Bulldogs enjoy a great deal of success and add to the sense of pride we feel for our school.

A Dash For the Finish Line

The boys' cross country team enjoyed a successful season even though the team was very young. Their record was 8-3 overall due to good teamwork and a simple philosophy, "stay in the pack, and keep in front." Scott Hazen and Chad Everitt led the team most of the year. The team finished in fifth place at the BBRC.

The Jr. High Cross Country team was fairly strong this year considering there were only three boys on the team. Mr. Boudrot helped the team mentally and physically. Hopefully next year there will be more boys who come out for the team.

A VIEW TO A VICTORY

Although the Bulldogs ended the season with a 1-8 record, the season as a whole can't be considered a complete loss. Since the team only had three seniors, Coach Fields expects to have a lot of experience coming back for next year's season.

The Bulldogs' only victory was over the Indiana Deaf School, in which they defeated their opponent 26-6.

Shoot for Two Bulldogs

The Bulldogs charged through a grueling season in basketball with thirteen wins and eight losses. This impressive performance was led by Seniors Mike Boles and Jason Upton under the tutelage of Coach Dally Hunter. Both players scored more than 1000 points as career highs. Boles accrued more than a 1000 rebounds as well.

Retiring from coaching after twenty-one years at the helm, Mr. Hunter bids farewell to the final team of his coaching career. Players and spectators will miss his steady approach to the game and the special rapport he had with his players.

Pin'em

The L.H.S. wrestling team had a fairly good year. The team was largely comprised of underclassmen who will return next year. The seniors on the team had some outstanding years and were a great contribution in leadership, experience, and as examples.

Seniors: Ken Robinette 19-9
Richie Chance 20-7
Brian Cobb 13-9

Richie Chance is determined the winner.

Derick Stephenson struggles to break his opponent down to the mat.

As a Team

What a mob!

The girls' cross country team enjoyed a very successful season this year. Coach Fuqua led the team to an exciting 7-2 record. The season was full of both hard work and fun. "As a Team" was the goal of the cross country team this year. The girls learned to work together and to support each other.

Go Lady Bulldogs

This year was a better year for the Lady Bulldogs. The team had seven seniors who gave quality leadership. With this leadership the team was able to win more games and play better as a team. This being Coach Field's second year with girls' basketball he had a better idea what to expect.

The girls' basketball program has improved, but they need the support of the students, faculty, and community to help them to have the confidence they need. Maybe in the years to come they will have this support.

LET'S HEAR THAT BULLDOG SPIRIT!

The Varsity, Jr. Varsity, and Freshman cheerleading squads all three attended U.S.C.A. cheerleading camp at IU this summer. To try to encourage and improve the "future" cheerleaders of Lapel High School, the cheerleaders sponsored a cheer clinic for all girls grades 3 thru 8. This was a fun, profitable learning experience for everyone. The girls who attended the cheerleading clinic were also invited to cheer with all three squads at the football Homecoming game.

Varsity Cheerleaders: Angie Havens, Carrie Smedley, Stephanie Duncan, Tonya Renbarger, Shannon Oleksy.

CAN YOU HEAR IT?

What is a Cheerleader? A cheerleader is defined as "one that directs organized cheering" at a game. And what are some characteristics a cheerleader should have? She (or he) should most importantly want and have school spirit. Other characteristics a cheerleader should have include rhythm, coordination, good motions, the ability to work well with others, the ability to involve the crowd, and last, but definitely not least, she should have a loud voice!

Jr. Varsity cheerleaders: Row 1: Jennifer Muse, Michelle Banter Row 2: Yana McClintock, Angie Duncan, Tonya Soden.

The clubs and organizations at Lapel High School provide an important service to the students and our community.

At Christmastime F.H.A. donates toys to the needy children. The Sunshine Society donates money to Riley's Children's Hospital.

The French Club enjoyed an evening at La Tours, and also prepared tasty samplings of French cuisine. The Spanish club sponsored the Christmas dance this year. They also prepared a spicy Mexican entree.

In the fall F.F.A. members take part in soil and livestock judgings. Senior members attended the National F.F.A. Conference in Kansas City.

Brown County was the setting for the Art Club's annual field trip. Representative works, displayed on the front hall bulletin board, attest to the talent prevalent in our school.

At Christmas the National Honor Society sold candy canes, and delivered them along with a personalized message.

Student Council members are revamping the Constitution this year. They also sponsored the Halloween dance and helped with Homecoming activities.

Future Problem Solvers is a club that devotes much thought to community and social problems, and possible solutions.

The End

The year is coming to an end, and it is time to look back on the accomplishments made in the past year and remember all the fun we had at games and dances. Remember all the times shared with friends and faculty? We, the yearbook staff, hope that you have enjoyed the yearbook and that you will cherish the memories it gives you. Let it remind you of all the hard work that has helped you in reaching your goals.

The third graders in Miss George's class celebrate J.U. Day.

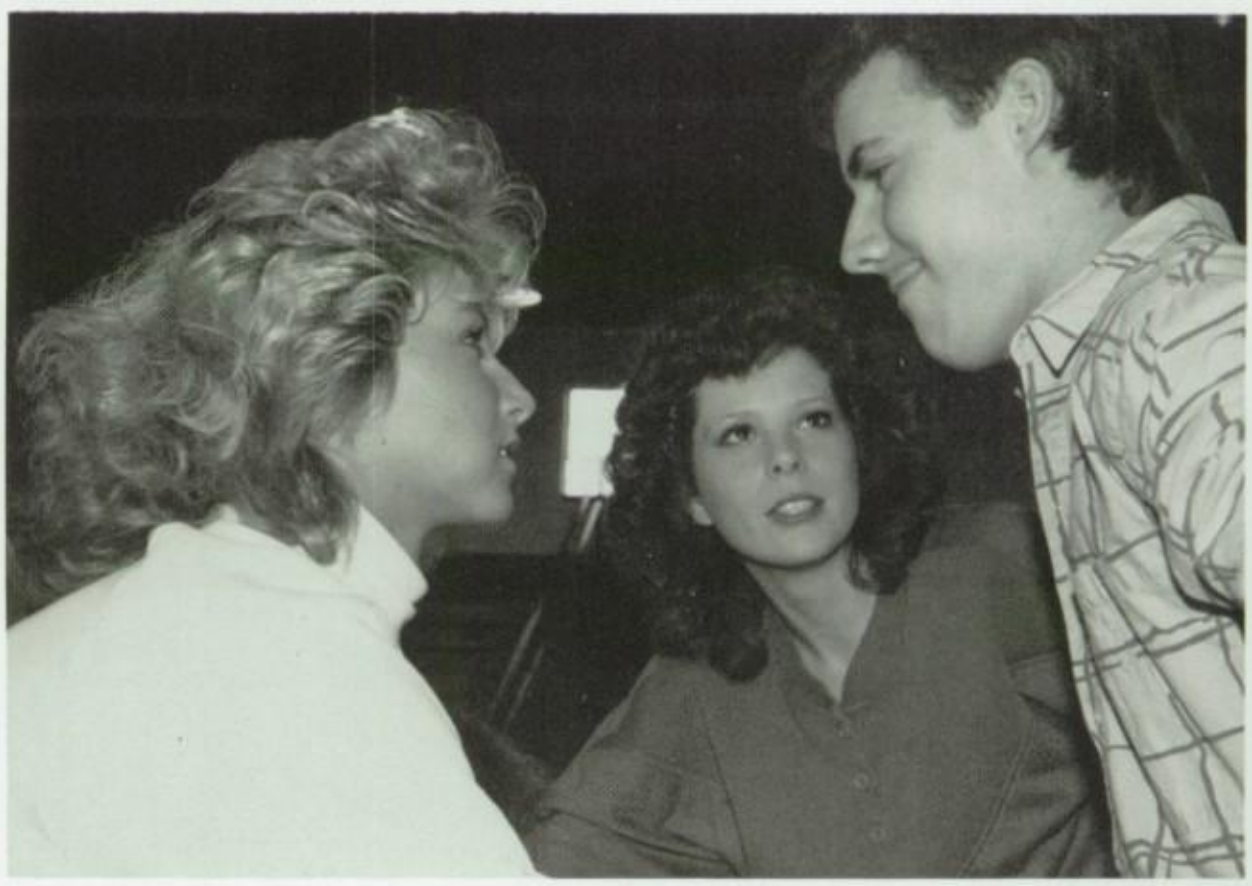
Mr. Markle finds his classroom a bit chilly.



Carrie Smedley, Keri Mason, and Brian Mills look like they're having an intent conversation.

Shannon Oleksy performs at the Christmas program.

Mrs. Degitz and Shane Kemerly stop for a picture.

From the editors:

Most people don't seem to realize just how much responsibility and hard work it takes in putting a yearbook together. We gave up a great deal of our evenings and vacation days to work on the many different things which make up a yearbook. We would like to thank Mrs. Cassiday for never complaining about the mess in the reference room. A special thanks to Mr. Buck for his support and all the little things he let us borrow. We would like to thank all those people behind the scenes that made this yearbook possible. Thank you photographers, copy writers, typists, and those who drew layouts. Most of all we would like to thank Mrs. Degitz for being our sponsor and keeping us sane. The 1987-88 yearbook was definitely a learning experience in our lives. We hope this book gives everyone enjoyment.

Jenny and Kelly

From the adviser:

As teachers we often speak of "learning experiences" to our students. But often we are so removed from the individual and the experiences he or she is involved in that our admonitions seem shallow and thoughtless. Once in a while, however, we teachers are pulled into the learning experience along with the student and realize that in order to empathize, one must share the experience. That is the case with production of this year's yearbook. The adviser and the co-editors were neophytes struggling to produce a quality publication with a minimum of organization and time.

One cannot imagine the amount of time, effort, and tears that go into a production such as this. Our co-editors, Kelly Sylvester and Jenny Risk, have devoted an incredible amount of energy to this project. They did it willingly and with "class." Both girls, though opposites in personality, worked in tandem, pooling their skill, shooting for the ultimate goal of meeting that final deadline. These young women learned the true meaning of responsibility and organization. Thank you, Kelly and Jenny, for your efforts, your attention to detail, and your fortitude!

Since THE BULLDOG is done as an extracurricular project, the communication between adviser and editors, and editors and staff is often hampered. It was necessary to conscript a few freshmen to aid our typists and copy writers, Stephanie Duncan, Kim Neese, Lou Ann Boyd, and Yvette Surber. Carla Rich, Angie Duncan, and Katrina Collins stepped in to help with writing copy, designing layouts, and gathering information. Our photographers, Donna Pilkington, Jason Upton, and Bart Arnold provided the stacks of pictures necessary for this project. Our "go-fer," Debbie Pilkington, helped with elementary picture identification. There were others who also helped when called upon. Thanks to H. Markle who shared his expertise and support. Without his assistance we would surely have been lost.

When viewing the mammoth workload of yearbook production through September eyes, this adviser experienced a weakness in the knees, a tightening in the stomach, and a shortness of breath that was to last until the "day of reckoning" arrived — picking up the yearbooks in May.

Now looking at the finished product, we can heave a sigh of relief. This staff and its two fine editors can relax and feel proud of their accomplishment. Their dedication and hard work resulted in true success. Although they were "caught in the shuffle," they didn't get lost!
